“

When society is grappling with changes on a global scale, GFW gives individuals an opportunity to make a direct impact -- and making that impact is as easy as putting on gardening gloves.”

CEO, Shubber Ali

The launch of the Reg CF campaign comes after the company was recently spun out as a for-profit company from the National Wildlife Federation (NWF), the United States' largest private, nonprofit conservation education and advocacy organization, with over six million members and supporters. Launched originally as a program under NWF, Garden for Wildlife has educated people to plant with the purpose of saving wildlife for nearly 50 years.

“We are thrilled to give our customers, NWF employees, and anyone interested in supporting a greener future the opportunity to invest in GFW as part of this Reg CF campaign,” stated Shubber Ali, CEO of Garden for Wildlife. “At a time when society is grappling with changes on a global scale, GFW gives individuals an opportunity to make a direct impact where they live -- and making that impact is as easy as putting on gardening gloves.”

According to an industry report by Better Garden, approximately 55% of American households garden, totaling around 71.5 million households and over 185 million people and the gardening industry is worth $47 billion per year, with potential for greater value.

Regulation Crowdfunding, or "Reg CF," is a legal framework in the United States that enables businesses to raise funds from a broad pool of everyday, ordinary people, thus democratizing access to capital for companies and access to opportunities for investors. Reg CF is regulated by the U.S. Securities and Exchange Commission (SEC).
