SECC Welcomes powerconnect.ai: A Strategic Union to Accelerate Clean Energy Access

SAN FRANCISCO, CA, UNITED STATES, November 6, 2023 /EINPresswire.com/
-- powerconnect.ai, a trailblazing Aldriven start-up dedicated to revolutionizing the clean energy **industry**, proudly announces its membership with the Smart Energy Consumer Collaborative (SECC). This alliance signifies a harmonious blend of Al and human innovation, propelling the clean energy revolution forward.

powerconnect.ai & SECC partnership

SECC, renowned for its expansive customer base and commitment to a smarter, sustainable energy evolution, offers an unparalleled platform for powerconnect.ai to introduce its ground-breaking AI technology. With an ethos rooted in collaborative progress, SECC links consumers to the pulse of modern energy markets, shaping the future of sustainable energy consumption.

"Our alignment with SECC resonates deeply with powerconnect.ai's mission – to make clean energy equitable, accessible, and profoundly impactful," said Steven Dawson, CEO & Founder, powerconnect.ai. "By showcasing our advancements through SECC's influential platforms and networking at their conferences, we gain the unique opportunity to collaborate with industry leaders, utility providers, tech vendors, and advocacy groups. This mutual exchange enriches our perspective and strengthens our impact in the industry."

Nathan Shannon, President & CEO of SECC, echoed the enthusiasm, "We're thrilled to welcome powerconnect.ai into our collaborative fold. Their innovative approach and commitment to enhancing customer experiences using AI perfectly complements our vision. We anticipate great things from this partnership, starting with powerconnect.ai's significant presence at the SECC's 2024 Consumer Symposium."

To learn more and engage in this transformative discussion, join us for the 2024 Consumer Symposium during DISTRIBUTECH International in Orlando on Monday, February 26.
