"Collaborative Conversational Commerce" is the first of its kind to enable an AI Agent to actively listen to and comprehend multi-participant discussions, interjecting with insightful voice or text responses when summoned. This groundbreaking functionality redefines collaboration and decision-making within the digital meeting space.

Kenneth J. Kalb, CEO of RowBotAI, expresses his enthusiasm for the new product: "We're propelling business meetings into the future with 'Collaborative Conversational Commerce'. It's not just an AI assistant; it's a meeting member that ensures no question goes unanswered, fostering a more informed and productive discussion."

Based in the AI development hub of San Diego, California, RowBotAI continues to push the boundaries of AI and its application in the commercial realm. "This product is a game-changer for remote and hybrid work models," says Kalb. "It allows for an unprecedented level of collaborative intelligence, where the AI supports real-time dialogue, ensuring that every meeting attendee, regardless of their role or location, has the same informed experience."

"Collaborative Conversational Commerce" is more than an assistant; it's a participative tool designed to streamline meeting flows and enhance collective decision-making. By integrating with RowBotAI's existing conversational commerce framework, it provides instant access to data-driven insights, supporting sales, marketing, and customer engagement efforts seamlessly within the meeting environment.
