Puretalk AI Collaborates with Plato AI to Launch Innovative WebApp Empowering Conversational AI

Puretalk AI, a leading provider of advanced conversational AI solutions, is thrilled to announce its exciting collaboration with Plato AI.

NEW YORK, NY, UNITED STATES, November 8, 2023 /EINPresswire.com/ -- Puretalk AI, a leading provider of advanced conversational AI solutions, is thrilled to announce its exciting collaboration with Plato, a pioneer in machine learning and AI technology. Together, they are launching a cutting-edge website Widget designed to revolutionize the way websites engage with visitors. This groundbreaking widget, which leverages Puretalk AI's machine learning capabilities and humanized Text-to-Speech (TTS+) technology, will transform static websites into interactive, conversational platforms.

The new website Widget, aptly named "Socrates," has been engineered to dynamically learn and adapt to each website's unique content, providing an unparalleled level of conversational AI engagement. It empowers website owners to enhance the user experience by enabling real-time, human-like interactions with their visitors.

Key Features of Socrates:

1. Adaptive Learning: Socrates learns the website's content and adapts to its tone and style over time, ensuring that every conversation is tailored to the site's personality.
2. Real-Time Interaction: Visitors can engage in meaningful conversations with the website, receiving instant responses to queries, guidance, and more.
3. Humanized TTS+: Powered by Puretalk AI's TTS+ technology, Socrates provides a natural and lifelike voice for a seamless conversational experience.

4. Easy Integration: Installation is simple, with a user-friendly WordPress widget that requires no advanced technical knowledge.

"We are excited to partner with Plato to introduce Socrates to the developer community and beyond. This widget empowers website owners to create interactive, human-like conversations with their visitors, resulting in a richer and more engaging user experience," said Evan Sirlin, CEO of Puretalk AI.

“We feel the opportunity to engage with over 10M+ Developers and 300M+ sites gives us a unique advantage in terms of our deployment strategy. The product drives a new level of authentic, value-driven engagements and allows us to engage with networks like Automattic and Shopify seamlessly.”

Socrates is set to disrupt the way websites interact with their audiences, providing a dynamic and conversational experience that will keep visitors engaged and informed. It is a testament to the power of AI technology when combined with innovation and expertise. The original release will be in English with more languages to follow soon. The product is currently in private beta and is scheduled for release in Q124.
