

KPMG LLP and Opkey Enter in Strategic Alliance to Offer Best-In-Class Automated Testing Solutions

Alliance continues a long track record of success together.

DUBLIN, CA, USA, November 13, 2023 /EINPresswire.com/ -- Opkey and KPMG LLP recently announced that they've entered a strategic alliance, with the goal of bringing together Opkey's leading test automation platform and KPMG's award-winning delivery services. This alliance is in addition to KPMG Venture's recent minority equity investment and deepens the already established collaboration and successful working relationship between KPMG and Opkey.

This strategic alliance builds off a multiyear track record of success between the organizations.

KPMG and Opkey have already seen success working with a number of Fortune 500 clients.

Opkey is by nature a disruptive technology, and one that brings accelerated efficiency to companies that are tired of the old ways of testing.”

Pankaj Goel, CEO of Opkey

Opkey remains committed to streamlining customer testing at every stage of their digital journeys. “Opkey is by nature a disruptive technology, and one that brings accelerated efficiency to companies that are tired of the old ways of testing,” says Opkey CEO, Pankaj Goel. “We are thrilled for this deepening partnership with KPMG & for the opportunity to keep pioneering new test automation solutions that push this industry forward.”

Ryan Burns, a Principal at KPMG, agreed that the move is a step forward for both organizations. “KPMG is looking forward to continued success in partnering with Opkey to incorporate best-in-class test automation into our extensive offerings. This strategic alliance provides an exciting opportunity to accelerate innovation together for our clients.”
