This represents an unprecedented amount of funding for Igyxos, surpassing previous rounds, except one and defining a new value for the company. The substantial investment will empower Igyxos to accelerate its growth and advance its cutting-edge technology solutions to new heights.

2- Validation of Innovation: This remarkable investment round is a testament to the strong results of IGX12 and to the technological prowess of the Igyxos team. New investors have joined this round and Emmanuel Dulac, CEO of Igyxos said « We are thrilled by this strong vote of confidence and particularly humbled by the quality of the investors who are supporting us. We welcome impressive veterans of the industry, large funds and also a world renown expert in infertility, Pr. I have worked with thousands of families facing this devastating problem and have confidence in the product's potential ability to redefine and change the experience and lives of those families. »

3- Trial Acceleration: With this significant capital infusion, Igyxos is poised for rapid advancement. The company is already planning for the best Phase II strategy to be able to roll into the discussions with authorities as soon as Phase I SAD and MAD are completed.
