"CDI Canvassing is excited to become a member of the Coalition Against Insurance Fraud," said Melissa Biggs, VP of Strategic Partnerships at CDI Canvassing." This partnership aligns with our core values of integrity and accountability, and it underscores our dedication to providing actionable data to empower claims leaders in combatting insurance fraud. We look forward to collaborating with other the Coalition members to enhance industry knowledge and further our mission to support our clients through valuable insights into injury history, empowering them to make informed decisions for their ever-evolving claims strategy, ultimately reducing costs and possibly identifying fraudulent treatment."

"With CDI Canvassing on board, our coalition gains a powerful ally in the battle against insurance fraud. Together, we amplify our impact, safeguarding the industry's integrity and trust," said Coalition Executive Director Matthew Smith.

CDI Canvassing has a commitment to continual innovation, providing top-tier medical canvassing services to the insurance industry. The landscape of insurance claims is fraught with challenges that frequently result in inflated claims, resulting in an overall strain on the insurance industry. In response to these challenges, CDI Canvassing has undertaken a mission to support carriers and special investigative units in combatting insurance fraud through effective medical canvassing. This claims tool leverages strategic reporting processes and industry-leading technology to provide clients with actionable data. This invaluable data empowers insurance professionals to make informed decisions when developing their claims strategy when identifying possible fraud. Through this collaboration, CDI Canvassing aims to contribute to the Coalition's efforts to reduce insurance fraud and protect the interests of both insurers and other committed partners.

The core of CDI Canvassing's approach is predictable, reliable, repeatable, and scalable. These attributes ensure a consistent production of intuitive, actionable data that empowers insurance professionals to address fraud through a HIPAA-compliant process designed to identify potential discrepancies, empowering accurate claims management. CDI Canvassing is committed to continuous innovation within the insurance industry, setting a high standard for data quality.

CDI Canvassing plays a crucial role in helping the insurance industry gather and utilize critical information, ultimately allowing SIU and claims leadership to combat insurance fraud in this dynamic and ever-changing environment. CDI Canvassing encourages other organizations and individuals to join the Coalition Against Insurance Fraud in their collective efforts to prevent and combat insurance fraud. By working together, we can ensure a fair and honest insurance industry for everyone.
