recipient of the 2023 Boyk Law Veterans Scholarship. Established in 2015, the scholarship is dedicated to supporting the educational aspirations of veterans and their families, acknowledging their service to the nation.

Chuck Boyk, founder of Charles E. Boyk Law Offices, LLC, expressed his pride in supporting those who have served and are now pursuing higher education. "We are very proud to support veterans who serve our country and then pursue their higher education dreams," said Boyk.

Choosing a winner from numerous deserving applicants is an annual challenge for the law firm. After careful consideration, Lt. Kirk Wolff emerged as the 2023 scholarship recipient.

Lt. Wolff is a distinguished graduate of the United States Naval Academy in Annapolis, Maryland. Serving over five years in the Navy as a Surface Warfare Officer, he exhibited exemplary leadership in overseeing shipboard gunnery systems, Surface Warfare operations, and anti-terrorism efforts. Lt. Wolff's notable service includes leading sailors on the USS Paul Hamilton in the South China Sea and Persian Gulf and serving as an aide and speechwriter for Rear Admirals Marc S. Lederer and Brendan McLane.

Acknowledged for his exceptional service, Lt. Wolff was awarded the Military Outstanding Volunteer Service Medal by Vice Admiral Ted Carter and received the 2019 Public Affairs Representative of the Year (Thompson Ravitz Award) from Rear Admiral Charles Brown.

Before his Navy service, Lt. Wolff earned an A.S. in General Science from Walters State

Community College while still in high school. Inspired by a traumatic experience in his youth, Lt. Wolff is attending the University of Virginia School of Law to pursue a career as an attorney, driven by the principles instilled in him through his military service.

"I still hold on to the dreams of the child that hoped to overcome his circumstances and help others beyond theirs," Lt. Wolff shared.

Charles E. Boyk Law Offices, LLC expresses its honor in awarding the 2023 Veterans Scholarship to Lt. Kirk Wolff, recognizing his commitment to justice and academic excellence. The firm extends gratitude to all 2023 applicants and wishes them success in their academic pursuits, eagerly anticipating next year's scholarship opportunities.
