EINPresswire.com/ -- Grammy Award-winning DJ and producer Kid Capri (David Anthony Love Jr.) has teamed up with the rising rap duo The Hoodies for the release of their sizzling new single, 'I'm Hot.' This collaboration marks a significant milestone, blending Kid Capri's revered experience with the innovative spirit and viral sensation of The Hoodies, drop an era of nostalgia.

Kid Capri, the "King of Mixtapes," began DJing in the Bronx at age 8 and became a hip-hop pioneer with his innovative mixtapes featuring rapid-fire scratching and mixing. He went on to collaborate with stars such as Jay-Z, Madonna, 50 Cent, and Snoop Dogg, earning a Grammy and contributing to Kendrick Lamar's "Damn." Capri's legacy includes performances at major events like the BET Awards, MTV Music Awards, VH1 Hip Hop Honors, and Hip Hop 50 Concert, cementing his influence in the music industry.

Linking up with The Hoodies to produce 'I'm Hot' was a journey back to my roots and a leap into the future of hip-hop.”

symbolized by wearing hoodies. Since going massively viral with their "In The Whip" freestyle video series in 2016, The Hoodies have made appearances on shows like Ellen and Hot97 with FunkFlex, and have had hip-hop royalty like Jadakiss and Styles P join in on their "In The Whip" sessions.

"Linking up with The Hoodies to produce 'I'm Hot' was a journey back to my roots and a leap into the future of hip-hop. Their fierce energy and sharp lyricism meshed with my seasoned beats, craft a track that's both street-wise and timeless. This collab is more than just a song – it's a reflection of hip-hop's raw, unfiltered essence and its enduring intelligence. On the Hidden Gem album and all its tracks we're bridging eras and styles, proving once again that this genre is the voice of the streets, the voice of wisdom." - Kid Capri
