About Silvermouse

Silvermouse weaves mind-bending psychedelic soundscapes, drawing from roots in UK rave culture and American jam rock. Distinguished by bass and violin, grounding synths, percussive rhythms, flying guitar riffs, and signature spiraling improvisational live performances, the duo's muses are nature and cosmic existence. Silvermouse's current exploration of brainwave entrainment in live music, 'Psychoactive,' is a deep journeying dive into the potential of music as a psychoactive entity. The pair have been elevating their sound with spatial audio and Monroe Sound Science, using brainwave entrainment signals to create a safe container and a trigger for altered states, consciousness exploration, and mind-soul axis elevation.
