Feel Good Song is Reminiscent of 80's American Rock

NASHVILLE, TENNESSEE, UNITED STATES, November 17, 2023 /EINPresswire.com/ -- Country / Heartland Rock artist and songwriter, Matt Jordan, releases his new single "Run Tonight," available now on all streaming platforms. The single, written by Jordan and Jarrett Hartness and produced by Grammy-Award nominated producer, Sal Oliveri (P!nk, Chris Stapleton), is the sixth single off Jordan's upcoming album slated to release in February 2024.

"I grew up on the American Rock greats of the 70's and 80's," said Matt Jordan. "My biggest influences and favorite artists are guys like Bruce Springsteen, Jackson Browne, Tom Petty and Don Henley. Sonically, I just love the music that came out of that era and I feel like I've been trying to write my own version of it for years. I don't believe I've ever gotten closer to it than with this song. So it's one of my favorite songs on the upcoming album and probably one of my favorite songs I've ever written. 'Run Tonight' captures the desire to break free from the pressures of the real world and let your inner rebellion and restlessness lead the way for a night. I hope it makes people want to roll their windows down and turn it up loud."

Jordan's music showcases the rising star's gritty vocals and country/rock influences, often drawing comparisons to some of his favorites like Bruce Springsteen and Eric Church, while showcasing his artistry as a songwriter.

This is the sixth single off Jordan's upcoming album that includes his recent singles "Don't Mean," "Steal Away the Night," "Steering Wheel," "Always A Girl" and "Anyone But Me," all garnering support from various playlists to include Spotify's Country Rocks, New Music Nashville, Next From Nashville, New Music Friday: Country and Fresh Finds: Country to name a few.
