awareness of the Department of Defense and the USAF. Mike Wall's appointment reflects his shared commitment to strengthening the connection between the civilian community and the military.

But the story doesn't end there. Bottle Breacher is more than a business; it's a symbol of strength and patriotism. They craft one-of-a-kind, handcrafted bottle openers meticulously made from genuine, previously-fired military-grade ammunition. Beyond their unique products, Bottle Breacher remains steadfast in its mission to not only employ veterans but also support them and first responders through a range of charitable endeavors. They have proudly donated to over 250 nonprofits, all aimed at supporting veterans and first responders.

Mike Wall's involvement in the Honorary Commander program underscores his unwavering support for the military and his passion for fostering collaboration between the civilian and military sectors. As an Honorary Commander, Mike Wall will actively participate in DMAFB events and initiatives, building strong relationships with military personnel and enhancing public awareness of the vital role played by the base in national defense.

About the Company:

Bottle Breacher is here to breach the barrier between military and civilian life through a growing workforce of veterans and patriots who have the will and patience to try and understand and accept one another's perspectives. The Bottle Breacher team believes that success can only be achieved by focusing and committing oneself to personal and professional growth, whether at home, at work, or in the community. All of their bullet bottle openers are once-fired, decommissioned rounds of ammunition. Whether used in training or on the battlefield, each round tells an important story about the cost of freedom. Bottle openers are reloaded, cut for the opener, tumbled, hand-picked to have very minimal defects, prepped and cleaned for powder coating, powder coated to provide a smooth finish, laser engraved for that personal touch, repolished and inspected for quality control, and finally packaged and shipped to deliver a high quality, one-of-a-kind bottle opener. Don't just open a bottle—breach it.
