EINPresswire.com/ -- Exiger, the SaaS company revolutionizing the way corporations, government agencies and banks manage supply chains, announced today that Exiger was named one of The CEO View's 2023 Top 10 Admired Companies to Watch. The magazine sat down with Chief Operating Officer Eli Cherkasky to discuss how Exiger is deploying strategies and technologies to make the world a safe and transparent place to succeed.

Eli Cherkasky, COO at Exiger

"Cherkasky, COO, is a key member of Exiger's executive team," writes The CEO Views. "His extensive experience and expertise as a business operator propelled the organization's ability to scale and grow."

"At Exiger, we put our customers first," said Cherkasky. "And when we look at supply chain and third-party risk management through the lens of our customers' day-to-day pain points and mandates, the priorities become very clear. Procurement, supply chain, security and compliance stakeholders are overwhelmed by the complexity of the current risk landscape. They need to make sound decisions often in near-real time and the consequences of getting those decisions wrong has never been higher."
