ONTARIO, CA, USA, November 22, 2023

/EINPresswire.com/ -- IronLink

Logistics, a prominent Third-Party

Logistics (3PL) company based in Ontario, California, is excited to announce a major expansion with a substantial $16.4 million investment in Ladson, South Carolina. The new 340,000 square foot facility, strategically located at 6880 Weber Blvd in Ladson, will cater to the Port of Charleston and operate within the Federal Trade Zone. This expansion marks a significant milestone for IronLink Logistics as it ventures into the Southeastern region, bringing with it a wave of opportunities and economic impact.

Logistics, is an integral part of our state's economic framework. By establishing operations in Ladson, IronLink gives South Carolina businesses an additional tool for moving products globally.”

South Carolina Secretary of Commerce Harry M. Lightsey

The Ladson facility is expected to generate 250 new job opportunities in Charleston County, contributing to the growth and prosperity of the local community. IronLink Logistics, known for its commitment to excellence in logistics solutions, plans to be fully operational by the end of the year and begin hiring immediately.

This expansion is a testament to IronLink Logistics' continuous growth and success in the logistics industry. The Ladson facility will join the ranks of the company's existing operations, which include three facilities in Southern California (two in Ontario and one in Chino) and two facilities in New Jersey. With the Ladson facility, IronLink Logistics will now have 1 million square feet of warehouse space, further solidifying its position as a leading player in the 3PL sector.
