the way for an ambitious global market expansion.

Participating in the World Korean Business Convention, GBB seized the opportunity to conduct vital market research in the United States and identify potential distribution partners. with U.S. distributors. Their plans include undergoing FDA approval through clinical trials, reinforcing their commitment to women's health and wellness.

The 21st World Korean Business Convention

At the heart of GBB's mission is pH4.0, a dedicated brand for women's health specializing in Bio-FemTech solutions. PANTOC, their leading product, revolutionizes women's hygiene with innovative probiotic products for effortless and effective application to sensitive areas, revolutionizing women's health maintenance. Unlike traditional women's hygiene products, PANTOC offers a convenient three-second care routine without the need for rinsing. The active mechanism behind PANTOC is unique, actively balancing the microbiome environment and promoting essential probiotics.

GBB also offers BALANCE TOC, another probiotic FemTech solution sharing a similar mechanism with PANTOC. BALANCE TOC features three patented probiotic strains designed for female hygiene and wellness, including L.plantarum ATG K8, L.rhamnosus, and L.paracasei. These vegan probiotics collectively provide an unbeatable solution for women's health, ensuring optimal Y-zone care and microbiome health.

During the World Korean Business Convention, GBB engaged with global industry leaders, immersing themselves in the latest product developments and trends. The valuable experience and insights gained at this prestigious event further fueled GBB's ongoing commitment to product enhancement and development. The company anticipates that partnerships formed during this convention will unlock exciting prospects for future growth.

As GBB pioneers innovation in the probiotics industry, they are eager to share their journey with businesses and foster symbiotic relationships. GBB welcomes collaboration from companies specializing in manufacturing, seeking OEM or ODM services, striving to establish distribution networks, or excelling in advertising.

GBB's mission is to unite with like-minded organizations, forming a dynamic community dedicated to pioneering revolutionary health and wellness solutions for women. With a clear focus on expanding in the U.S. market, GBB actively seeks partnerships with organizations sharing their passion for advancing women's health.

This collaborative effort aims to create a formidable network that transforms women's health and well-being through shared knowledge and innovation, promising groundbreaking solutions that empower women to lead healthier, more fulfilling lives.
