Startup Surge Driving Market Momentum

The market is propelled by the emergence of startups as significant clients for software and BPO service providers. With a focus on cost efficiency and the imperative to concentrate on core operations, startups are increasingly outsourcing non-core functions like finance and recruitment to specialized agencies. For instance, Leverage Edu, an India-based EdTech startup, achieves approximately 40% capital savings by outsourcing finance and tech operations. The expanding number of startups, predicted to reach 10,500 in India by 2020, presents new opportunities for the software and BPO services market, contributing to client expansion and revenue growth.
