I'm excited to be joining Kanda who has a proven track record of delivering high quality, value-added solutions.”

Michael Macedo

Michael draws upon 20+ years of HealthTech experience, spanning business development and sales, service strategy and operations, management consulting and customer success. Prior to joining Kanda, Michael worked at GE Healthcare as their VP & GM of digital services and customer success. He spent three years at GE Healthcare where he was responsible for the digital services P&L across US and Canada. Prior to GE, Michael held leadership roles at Siemens Healthineers, Caradigm and the Chartis Group, all of which gave him in-depth HealthTech and operational leadership experience. He brings a passion for healthcare and life sciences and is looking forward to working with the Kanda team in developing and growing the practice.

The launch of Kanda's Healthcare and Life Sciences practice reflects its commitment to expanding their services in the rapidly evolving and growing industries. Michael will play a pivotal role in this expansion, while navigating the complexities of the industries. Kanda recognizes that attracting the right talent in the competitive tech industry is a cornerstone of their success and will lead to long-term growth. By building out its teams with qualified, experienced professionals like Michael, Kanda is positioning itself as a competitive custom software development and digital transformation services company in healthcare and life sciences.
