recognized leader in global investment immigration, is offering discerning clients an exceptional opportunity to gain EU residency through Portugal’s official “Golden Visa” program. Following a significant update, Astons is inviting potential investors to take advantage of the program’s new requirements.

The UK-founded firm’s Portuguese Residency-by-Investment program is a gateway to one of Europe’s most sought-after destinations, known for its vibrant culture, thriving economy, and favorable investment climate. The new official program now offers a minimum investment threshold starting from €500,000.

"Our unique offering in Portugal not only opens doors to a cherished European lifestyle but also paves the way for substantial equity growth for our clients," says Denis Kravchenko, Director of Business Development and Head of the Astons Cyprus Office. "In a world where investment landscapes are constantly evolving, Portugal has consistently been one of Europe’s most tempting prospects."

In addition to helping clients access the country’s “Golden Visa” program, Astons offers luxury real estate investments in some of Portugal’s most coveted areas, including government-approved resorts and hotel projects. The firm smoothly facilitates these ventures with its streamlined turnkey solution, available through Astons’ dedicated Portugal Office. Similar opportunities are available in other countries, in the EU and beyond, through Astons’ premier real estate brokerage programs.

Astons' bespoke approach includes conducting a preliminary assessment within 24 hours, efficiently gauging prospects for potential investors. The Portugal Residency-by-Investment program is renowned for its swift approval process, with a turnaround time of approximately three months — though the popularity of the program has created lengthier application times over the years, so investors should begin the process as soon as possible.

A key attraction of the program is Portugal's status as a world-famous EU crypto paradise, appealing to modern investors who value both innovation and tradition. This aspect aligns perfectly with Astons' ethos of blending cutting-edge solutions with time-tested expertise.

"We understand that precision and time are of the essence for our clients. With the program's new investment focus, our team is dedicated to ensuring that every application is managed with the utmost accuracy," added Kravchenko. "Astons' commitment to excellence guarantees that clients' pathways to Portuguese residency are as seamless as they are rewarding."

Participating in Portugal's Residency-by-Investment program through Astons not only offers clients a coveted Portuguese residency but also serves as a gateway to unparalleled mobility across the European Union. Golden Visa holders are empowered with the freedom to travel, work, and reside within the Schengen Area, putting a tapestry of European cultures, economies, and opportunities at their fingertips. This enhanced mobility offers clients the ability to reimagine their lifestyle, business prospects, and personal growth within the rich and diverse expanse of the EU.

Astons is offering investors the chance to explore the potential of Portugal's newly revamped Residency-by-Investment program. With Astons' expert guidance, clients can embark on a journey towards not just a new residency, but a promising future filled with possibilities.
