

Oil-to-Gas Conversions Are Back for All of Westchester County

Flotechs expands oil-to-gas conversion service across Westchester, offering free estimates & money-saving promotions following Con Edison's gas moratorium lift.

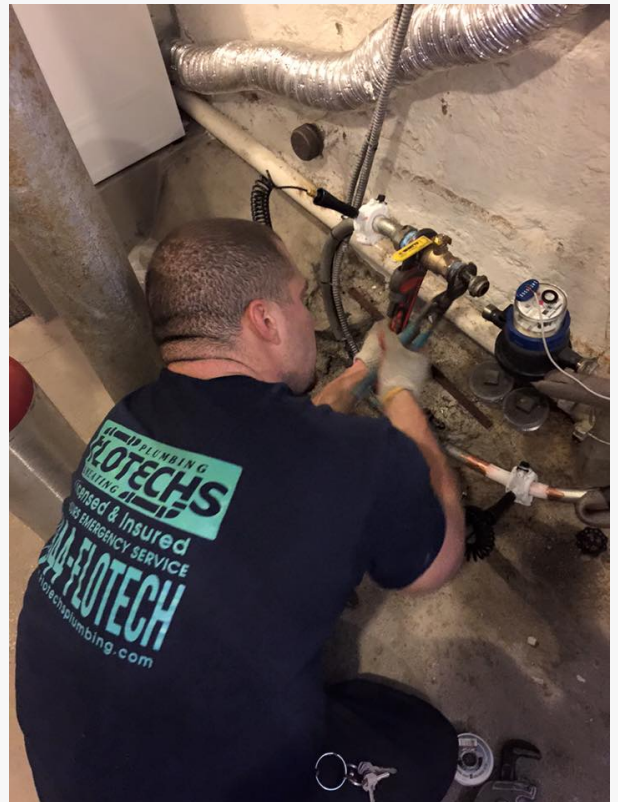

YONKERS, NEW YORK, UNITED STATES, December 4, 2023 /EINPresswire.com/ -- Flotechs Plumbing & Heating, a Yonkers-based plumbing company known for its expert services, has announced its oil-to-gas conversion service can once again cover all of Westchester County.

This announcement is a welcomed development following Con Edison's decision to lift the natural gas moratorium in mid to lower Westchester.

"We are pleased with Con Edison's decision to lift the moratorium. The response from homeowners waiting for this day is a testament to their desire for a cleaner energy source," said Josh Benjamin, President of Flotechs Plumbing & Heating. He added, "We're already providing free estimates and helping customers weigh the pros and cons of different equipment."

This initiative is part of Flotechs' commitment to promoting sustainable energy solutions. Homeowners in the region have been eagerly anticipating the opportunity to switch from oil to natural gas. This change promises both environmental benefits, cost savings, and increased efficiency.

To welcome natural gas back to the entire county, Flotechs is offering a year of semi-annual maintenance, valued at around $1,000, for customers who sign up for the conversion service between December 2023 and March 2024. This offer encourages homeowners to step towards a more sustainable and efficient heating system and save some money along the way.
