This project was initiated by the late owner of Bowditch Ford, with his son, Casey Rosinski, taking the reins to realize his father's vision. After overcoming challenges including the COVID-19 pandemic, Rosinski is proud to see this project come to fruition. This fulfills his father's legacy and marks his entry into the senior living industry.

Regent features elegantly designed living spaces, ranging from 800 to 1,100 square feet, with separate living, dining, and private areas. Special highlights include nine king suites with private patios, a wellness center with a fitness center and salon/spa, and unique architectural elements like a vintage mailbox and Roman-style columns.

The community also boasts fine dining options and an English-style pub, emphasizing a high standard of living and social engagement for residents. Embassy Healthcare's attention to detail is evident in every aspect of Regent, promising a comfortable and luxurious living experience.

"We're excited to open our doors and welcome the community to Regent of Newport News. This opening marks not just the realization of a dream but the beginning of a new chapter in luxury senior living in Newport News," said Mehri Stephenson, VP of Business Development at Embassy Healthcare.
