EINPresswire.com/ -- Flower Turbines and its luxury brand Flower Power have started a competition for climate awareness art that anyone can enter.

Any creation painted for their beautiful "Tulip" turbines can be a winner and will be featured on the Flower Power website, and there is a major cash prize. If someone can't or doesn't create art, voting for the weekly winner can still make a difference.

The competition will run until May 8, 2024, and a winner for each week will be announced. This week's winner is announced on the Flower Turbines site at <https://tinyurl.com/bddwpzk3>

Flower Turbines' luxury brand, Flower Power, focuses on promoting climate change awareness. They are offering this art competition with the goals of increasing this awareness and bolstering tangible action against climate change. Even those who aren't an artist or don't have a hand-painted work to submit can vote for the contestant artists on a weekly basis. Details for the competition are linked at <https://tinyurl.com/bddwpzk3>
