Key Highlights of 'Smooth':

- Ideal for Menopausal Wellness: 'Smooth' seamlessly integrates with the entire Respect Wellness product line which is specifically tailored for women undergoing menopausal changes, aiming to optimize their wellness routines during this pivotal life stage.

"We began the formulation process with a fine soy wax, then selected complimentary organic botanical ingredients to help reduce the appearance of fine lines & wrinkles – to moisturize, nourish and plump up the face." explains CEO and Founder, Francine Sommer.

In the United States, the menopause market, currently valued at $4.9 billion, reflects the growing needs of over 27 million women experiencing menopause at any given time. These women, typically aged between 40 and 65, navigate the complexities of peri/menopause – a phase that can start as early as 40 and, on average, lasts 7.4 years, sometimes extending beyond a decade. This significant demographic highlights the pressing demand for specialized, effective solutions like those offered by Respect Wellness, aimed at enhancing the well-being and quality of life for women during this transitional period.
