

AI Powered Robo-Lawyers Here Now: On-Demand , Low Cost, Ready To Deploy

AI Guys today announces the launch of Sentinels - an elite battalion of artificial intelligence agents purpose-built to revolutionise the legal industry.

KINGTON, HEREFORDSHIRE, UNITED KINGDOM, December 7, 2023 /EINPresswire.com/ -- AI Guys today announces the launch of Sentinels - an elite battalion of artificial intelligence agents purpose-built to revolutionise the legal industry. These virtual legal eagles boast savant-level skills once exclusive to large law practices, now available on-demand, at low cost subscription model, for firms of any size.

See aiguys.online here.

"Law firms operate on an antiquated model straining under inflated overhead and compensation costs, while AI propels progress exponentially faster," said AI Guys founder and CEO Stephen Soos. "Sentinels disrupt this legacy landscape entirely."

The first roll out, ready now - Annie, an AI-empowered legal assistant - possesses encyclopedic legal knowledge and administers it with almost deity-like intelligence. She reviews agreements, ensures deadline compliance, handles research/discovery, provides counsel, and delivers as the workload of an entire support team.

Annie comes battle-ready with 50 skill sets out of the gate, with 150 more specialists skills in active development.

Law practices can deploy an on-demand army tailored to each project, then scale back when the job is done - no long term contracts.

No HR headaches. Just excellence-as-a-service for one transparent, ultra-low monthly cost.

Sentinels are available in any English speaking jurisdiction, with additional language models coming in 2024.

It's a landmark power shift. No longer can "big law" rest on the crutches of prestige and pedigree. Small firms fortified by Sentinels can accomplish in hours what used to demand days of labour across sprawling, lavish, and costly offices. Extracting such competitive gaps spells triumph for forward thinking scrappy disruptors.

"The innovation unfolding rivals the invention of the printing press for influence," Soos continued. "Sentinels render physical workspaces and outsized teams redundant. We condense immense legal firepower atop any WiFi signal and beam it directly into the hands of fast-moving firms poised to seize leadership."

Large, Lavish offices & huge HR resources used to be an Asset

- Now, they are liabilities”
Stephen Soos

The platform-agnostic battalion deployed by AI Guys is but the first phase in its steady march to fortify every pillar of law - from legal assistants to contract drafters, business development managers and forensic investigators. The legacy legal kingdom stands vulnerable as its once greatest assets, large plush offices, a huge HR pool and enormous overhead become it's biggest liabilities. These things are now lead balloons.

With Sentinels knocking at the door, the AI driven digital age has arrived. The implications spell either doom or glory for legal entities, depending if they adopt or ignore these advances. The power shifts ahead wait for no one. The time to enlist artificial intelligence is unequivocally now.

The time is now as AI writes first law to get passed by humans.
