

Officer Glennis Monday Honored as a Third Time Recipient of the Judge Larry E. Potter Law Enforcement Award

The Tennessee Department of Transportation and Keep Tennessee Beautiful, a Keep America Beautiful state affiliate host the biennial Awards of Excellence event.

NORRIS, TENNESSEE, UNITED STATES, December 10, 2023 /EINPresswire.com/ -- Glennis Monday, the Environmental Officer in Campbell County, Tennessee, has been honored for the third time with the esteemed Larry E. Potter Law Enforcement Award. This award is presented biennially by Keep Tennessee Beautiful, a Keep America Beautiful state affiliate. Officer Monday was also the inaugural recipient of the award in 2017.

"Officer Monday is out there doing the hard work and heavy lifting necessary to keep Campbell County and Norris Lake beautiful, and he is truly living the motto, 'Love Where You Live,'" said Julie Graham, executives director of the Middle East Tennessee Tourism Council and board co-chair with the Norris Lake Project. "His contributions to conservation and environmental cleanup efforts are an inspiration and motivation to all of us who want to make the places that we live the best that they can be."

Officer Monday's commitment to conservation extends beyond enforcing anti-littering laws and tracking down illegal dumpers. He is a leader in organizing community cleanup efforts, contributing his invaluable expertise to the preservation of lakes, rivers, and landscapes.

However, Monday's efforts are not confined just to his home county. He travels across Tennessee, delivering talks and demonstrations on how local law enforcement and volunteers can ensure better enforcement of litter laws and raise community awareness about preventing illegal dumping -- as well working within the local schools to teach litter prevention programs, and working with other agencies on projects such as proper tire disposal and protection of public lands.

Office Monday honored at biennial Awards of Excellence program

Officer Monday's dedication to his law enforcement service and his active participation in boots-on-the-ground beautification efforts have not only helped to maintain the beauty of the local environment but also inspire others to take responsibility for protecting their Volunteer State communities' invaluable natural assets, habitats and scenery. He has established partnerships with local businesses and volunteers along the waterways and off road trails to be stewards of those assets..

The Larry E. Potter Law Enforcement Award is named after West Tennessee Judge Larry E. Potter, who is widely known as the "Father of Environmental Courts in America." The Potter award recognizes law enforcement officers who have demonstrated exceptional dedication to conservation and environmental cleanup efforts.

“

Officer Monday is out there doing the hard work and heavy lifting necessary to keep Campbell County and Norris Lake beautiful, and he is truly living the motto, 'Love Where You Live,'

Julie Graham

Julie Graham
METTC
+1 865-585-0811

Team Glennis Monday- Campbell County

Officer Monday speaking to the volunteers

email us here

Visit us on social media:

Facebook

Instagram

YouTube

This press release can be viewed online at: <https://www.einpresswire.com/article/673849053>

EIN Presswire's priority is source transparency. We do not allow opaque clients, and our editors try to be careful about weeding out false and misleading content. As a user, if you see something we have missed, please do bring it to our attention. Your help is welcome. EIN Presswire, Everyone's Internet News Presswire™, tries to define some of the boundaries that are reasonable in today's world. Please see our Editorial Guidelines for more information.

© 1995-2023 Newsmatics Inc. All Right Reserved.