Register for this free webinar and discover how the readiness of educational leaders can spark transformative community change across the nation.

NEW ORLEANS, LA, USA, December 11, 2023 /EINPresswire.com/ -- Beloved Community has announced they will be hosting their groundbreaking webinar, 'The Power to Make Change,' on December 14, 2023 at 1:30 pm CST. This free, virtual event will transcend the traditional webinar experience; providing an in-depth exploration of the transformative forces shaping the future of education across our nation.

In the face of unparalleled challenges in education, ranging from legislative assaults on Critical Race Theory to explicit threats against LGBTQIA+ students and teachers, panelists will delve into how Beloved Community's Back To School Brief emerges as a guiding light and an impassioned call to take action.

"I believe that education has the power to shape not just minds, but entire communities. 'The Power to Make Change' webinar is a testament to our commitment to understanding the challenges we face in education and mobilizing for transformative action. Together, we can create inclusive and equitable learning environments that empower every student and educator," said Rhonda Broussard, Founder and CEO of Beloved Community.

'The Power to Make Change' isn't a typical data presentation—the Back to School Brief captures the voices of over 1,100 educators from 140+ schools and districts across 28 states. The webinar
