

New York State Electronics Recycling: Many Facilities Available for Recycling Unwanted Electronics

Electronics Recycling Facilities Available in the State of New York

NEW YORK, UNITED STATES, December 13, 2023 /EINPresswire.com/ -- Each year, millions of people give or receive new electronics as gifts to replace older models. And that means consumers have to dispose of their used devices.

Discarding TVs, computer monitors, and other electronic devices in household garbage is illegal in New York. There are many opportunities across the state to recycle these devices.

Recycling is an important step in conserving resources and contributes to advancing the circular economy in the state. Reverse Logistics Group (RLG) offers hundreds of electronics collection sites in the state of New York, making it easy for consumers to recycle.

A list of RLG's New York collection sites is available on the Reverse Logistics Group website.

The free collection sites are open to households, as well as small non-profits, businesses, and schools.

Commonly recyclable electronic devices include:

- Desktop and laptop computers
- Tablets
