Transformation Insights Launches Kinetic Marketplace: Pioneering the Future of Change with KTA Technology

EDISON, NEW JERSEY , UNITED STATES ,
December 14, 2023 /

EINPresswire.com/ -- — Transformation Insights, a global artificial intelligence and change technology company, announced the launch of the Kinetic Marketplace today. This platform utilizes patented Kinetic Transformation Accelerator (KTA) technology to provide businesses, change professionals, and technologies a central hub for accessing the reliable data, people, and processes they need to win at change.

The Kinetic Marketplace leverages KTA's patented technology to establish unprecedented social networks tailored for businesses and work environments. KTA's unique technology offers a unified view of work, irrespective of the system where the data resides. With the application of KTA's patented RTDC neural network technology, the Kinetic Marketplace is an inclusive platform for Clients, Agents, and Partners to collaborate seamlessly during change initiatives.

"The Kinetic Marketplace marks a significant stride towards the release of KTA CES 2.0, the next generation of generative artificial intelligence," "

CEO, Nathan Gampel

KTA is the first technology to seamlessly integrate prompt-based and prompt-less artificial intelligence data intake/output. Its impact is evident in diverse industries, including Financial Services, Pharmaceuticals, Biomedicine,

Media, and Aerospace. KTA empowers organizations to develop their distinctive language of change and use it to consistently realize the value of investments in change.
