

Spandex.US Announces an Exclusive Drytac Laminating Films Class

SALT LAKE CITY, UTAH, USA, December 15, 2023 /EINPresswire.com/ -- Spandex, a leader in digital print solutions, today announced an exclusive class focusing on Drytac's innovative laminating films. Set for Thursday, January 25, from 11:30 AM to 1:00 PM, this event is tailored for industry professionals eager to explore the world of laminating films.

"We're excited to offer a class that dives deep into the versatile world of Drytac laminating films," said Lawrence Wiscombe, General Manager of Spandex.US. "Our attendees will learn about various types, including writable, food-safe, and slip-resistant films, and understand their unique applications in our industry."

Attendees will learn about various types, including writable, food-safe, and slip-resistant films, and understand their unique applications in our industry."

Lawrence Wiscombe, General Manager

Drytac will exhibit a range of creative projects to inspire participants. "Seeing is believing," Wiscombe remarked. "This showcase is designed to spark creativity and demonstrate the innovative uses of laminating films in different projects."

Hands-On Learning Experience

Each attendee will receive Drytac product samples and engage in hands-on demonstrations. "We believe in learning by doing," said Wiscombe. "These hands-on experiences will allow our attendees to practically apply their knowledge, ensuring they leave with valuable skills they can use immediately."

Networking and Lunch Included

The class, priced at $25 per person, includes a catered lunch, offering a great networking opportunity. "It's not just about learning; it's also about connecting with peers in the industry," added Wiscombe. "This class is a perfect blend of education and networking."

Limited Seats Available

With limited availability, interested parties are encouraged to book their spot promptly. "This is a unique opportunity for professionals to enhance their skills with Drytac laminating films," Wiscombe emphasized. Contact Spandex at marketing.us@spandex.com to register.
