The image shows the top portion of IRS Form 8863, titled "Education Credits". It includes the form number "8863" in a red box, the title "Education Credits", and the subtitle "(American Opportunity and Lifetime Learning Credits)". The form is divided into sections for "Form 8863" and "Form 8863-ET". The "Form 8863" section includes instructions for claiming the American Opportunity Credit and the Lifetime Learning Credit. The "Form 8863-ET" section includes instructions for claiming the Education Tax Credit. The form is a standard IRS form with a grid for entering information.

Form 8863

Education Tax Credits

Taxpayers are advised to carefully review the instructions before completing the form to avoid errors that could delay their refund.

The American Opportunity Credit is a tax credit of up to $2,500 per eligible student that can be claimed for the first four years of post-secondary education.

The Lifetime Learning Credit is a tax credit of up to $2,000 per tax return that can be claimed for undergraduate, graduate, and professional degree courses.

To claim education credits, taxpayers must meet certain eligibility requirements, including enrollment in an eligible educational institution and payment of qualified education expenses.

Taxpayers are also required to provide the Social Security Number or Individual Taxpayer Identification Number of the student for whom the credit is being claimed.

Taxpayers who are unsure about their eligibility for education credits or who have questions about completing the form 8863 should consult a tax professional or use the IRS Free File program, which provides free tax preparation software for eligible taxpayers.

The release of the form 8863 instructions and printable forms for 2023 and 2024 is a valuable resource for taxpayers who are planning to claim education credits on their tax returns.

The IRS has made it easy for taxpayers to access the forms and instructions, and taxpayers are encouraged to review the instructions carefully before completing the form to avoid errors that could delay their refund.
