Ananda shares, "This song came to me in Meditation. At first, it was a singer-songwriter vibe, a gentle piece with me singing out my heart about how it feels to commune with the Angels and strumming along on my guitar. As the time to record it came closer, it started morphing into what first felt like the Velvet Underground finding God. We took it into rehearsal, and I said, 'Ok, guys think the Angels and Velvet Underground meet.' The result is a psychedelic experience that will activate the Kundalini energy and transport listeners to the Angelic Realms."

Fans and new listeners alike can experience the transformative power of "Psychedelic Halo" on December 21st, when it will be available on all major digital music platforms. For more information on Love Power the Band and their music, please visit their website at <https://www.onlyloveisreal.love>.
