To calculate the Best Nursing Homes ratings, U.S. News evaluated each nursing home’s performance using a variety of quality measures obtained from the Centers for Medicare & Medicaid Services (CMS). The U.S. News methodology factors in data on resident care, safety, outcomes, and other aspects of quality. Both short- and long-term ratings include data on nurse staffing, use of antipsychotic drugs and success in preventing ER and hospital visits.

“U.S. News’ Best Nursing Homes ratings give patients, senior residents, their families and caregivers an objective assessment of quality, to help them choose the facility that best fits their individual needs,” said Daniel Lara Agudelo, health data analyst at U.S. News. “Nursing homes that have earned the recognition of U.S. News have a track record of achieving better outcomes for patients and residents, and maximizing the amount of care they receive from nurses and other staff.”

Juniper Communities is recognized by the senior living industry as a major industry influencer for its programming, use of technology, and evidence-based integrated model of care. Its two major wellness-centric programs that serve as key factors to its’ success are Catalyst and Connect4Life. Catalyst is an ecosystem of programs and services, which focus on the seven dimensions of wellness using integrative technology. Connect4Life is a high-tech, high-touch program that integrates onsite medical and therapy services overseen by a medical/lifestyle concierge to ensure a human connection.
