We want to say Thank You for the valuable and heroic service these men and women provide. Many frontline heroes from across the Valley stopped by. We look forward to growing this event in the future.”

In addition to ongoing efforts supporting the Coachella Valley Rescue Mission, Martha’s Village and Kitchen, Variety: The Children Charity, and many others, Renova hosted an inaugural event at their Corporate Center on behalf of first responders. The celebration honored National First Responders Day on October 28, 2023, and was called “Solar and Sirens!” Renovians were present to greet and thank first responders with a special lunch and a chance to relax and play games.

“We wanted a tangible way to say Thank You for the valuable and heroic service these men and women provide,” explained Vincent Battaglia, Founder and CEO of Renova Energy. “Many frontline heroes from across the Valley stopped by. We look forward to growing this event in future years to provide even more appreciation.”

Renova team members have also participated in Paint El Paseo Pink on behalf of the Desert Cancer Foundation, entered the Palm Desert Golf Cart Parade, and had a large presence in this year's Palm Springs Pride parade. As an employer of many College of the Desert (COD) alumni, Renova also sponsored the first-ever COD “Great Alumni Hunt,” as 20 students worked to identify, register, and learn the stories of as many alumni as possible, winning substantial scholarships as a result. Renovians also participated in this year's toy drive put on by the Coachella Valley Rescue Mission, donating brand new toys for children and volunteering to distribute them in December.

"I really enjoy working for a company that doesn't just write checks from afar, but really affords employees the opportunity to give back firsthand and show their support for the incredible work our community nonprofits are doing," said Jay Campuzano, Events Coordinator for Renova. "It's fulfilling for them, and it's exciting and rewarding for us."
