In addition to celebrating this news, Lado has ambitious plans for the future. In the coming months, the institution will be present at ICEF fairs (www.icef.com) in Japan, Korea, Colombia, and Mexico, where it will hold meetings with key educational agencies worldwide. The goal is to establish new partnerships and recruit additional agents who can recommend the Lado educational experience to potential students interested in learning English in the United States.

Claudio Herrera Krell, CEO of LADO, expressed satisfaction with these achievements and emphasized the importance of continuing to innovate and grow. "We are delighted to have renewed our accreditation with ACCET, which represents a seal of quality and trust for our students and partners. We are also excited about the opportunities arising in the Asian and Latin American markets, where there is a high demand for quality English education. We want to continue offering the best of ourselves to our students and the international educational community. This is a crucial step to start the year with energy and optimism."
