Millie, a Public Benefit Corporation, is one of the top corporate giving platforms, offering features that support corporate matching gifts, volunteer management, campaign management, and more with the mission of making charitable giving fun, easy, and impactful.

VertexOne Chief Human Resources Officer, Elizabeth Reed, said she’s thrilled to offer a holistic, highly personalized, employee-centric giving experience that makes it easier than ever for employees to live out shared values.

“Here at VertexOne giving back is an integral part of who we are and we strive to cultivate a culture that reflects that. Whether volunteering at community events, raising money for favorite charities, or organizing social impact campaigns, we realize that employees value companies that value giving. And ‘giving’ doesn’t just mean money. It means giving your time and talent as well,” Reed said.

Millie’s volunteerism tools are designed to aid teams in planning and executing in-person and virtual volunteer events. An attractive feature, Reed added, for the 100% remote company. The tools also enable corporate users to locate nonprofit partnership opportunities, manage sign-ups, track hours volunteered, and communicate social impact with ease.

“Our partnership with Millie allows us to weave charitable giving into our overall employee engagement strategy to provide meaningful experiences that make employees feel more connected to their jobs, colleagues, and the company by connecting on what matter most to them," Reed concluded.
