Chosen from among the members of the organization, the CfPA's officers and directors serve as volunteers. Membership in CfPA is open to issuers, investors, platforms, service providers, ecosystem partners, and other stakeholders in the crowdfunding ecosystem who wish to support the mission of the association.

The new board members join existing board members with ongoing terms, including Devin Thorpe (The SuperCrowd, Inc.), Brian Christie (Brainsy Inc. & Crowdfund Holdings Innovators: CHI), Jenny Kassan (The Kassan Group), Brian Belley (KingsCrowd), Scott McIntyre (Weconomy & National Commonwealth Group), Samson Williams (Milky Way Economy LLC), Sara Hanks (CrowdCheck), Brian Korn (Manatt), Peter Rostovsky (Raiseway), Etan Butler (The Dalmore Group), Rebecca Kacaba (Dealmaker), and Andrew Savikas (Halloway).

The mission of the Crowdfunding Professional Association is to foster the growth of the regulated investment crowdfunding economy by supporting issuers and investors (and potential issuers and investors) and by working with portal operators and other crowdfunding professionals in the broader crowdfunding ecosystem. On behalf of these constituents and members, the CfPA advocates with regulators and legislators. The CfPA, a U.S. 501(c)(6) nonprofit trade group, carries out its mission through innovative programs, publishing online, annual gatherings, periodic webinars, and by providing guidance to investors and issuers alike.
