Tracy Floeh, a founding member of Gateway to Dreams, expressed her thoughts on the significance of Connecting and Promoting Women: "Being a part of Connecting and Promoting Women means being part of a sisterhood that supports, uplifts, and empowers one another. It's about breaking down barriers and forging paths together. This event is a celebration of unity, strength, and the incredible impact women can have when they come together."

As part of the celebration, Gateway to Dreams encourages attendees to explore the diverse events and programs the organization offers. Some of the initiatives highlighted on the organization's website (<http://www.gatewaytodreams.org>) include:

- Connecting and Promoting Women: Opportunities for women to expand their professional networks and discover new possibilities

- Joy of Goals: A monthly goal workshop with a coach/speaker and a facilitated time.

Participants are invited to act on their goals and dreams started during the Annual Joy of Goals event.

- Nonprofits Rock St. Louis: Created to offer additional support to the many small nonprofits and volunteers that create a tapestry of incredible support for our community. Events are held several times a year, and experts provide workshops to educate, connect and collaborate with the nonprofit community.

- Write Your Book Right Now: A monthly program designed to help you write your book facilitated by successful authors. An author will share their journey, then there is time for members to work on their book.
