ClearGov, a leader in public sector technology solutions and Budget Cycle Management software, proudly announces its 8th consecutive inclusion on the distinguished GovTech 100 list. The unbroken record further demonstrates ClearGov's commitment to innovation and excellence in government budgeting and planning solutions.

The GovTech 100 award, a benchmark in the government technology sector, honors companies making significant contributions to state and local government agencies across the United States. The award recognizes government technology companies focused on, making a difference in, and selling to state and local government agencies in the United States. GovTech serves a wide audience of government officials, finance directors, city managers, and IT staff, who consider it a trusted authority when it comes to evaluating government technology solutions serving the industry.

2023 marked a year of significant milestones for ClearGov. Surpassing 1,000 customers, the company demonstrated its ability to meet the evolving needs of government agencies with effective and user-friendly budgeting and planning solutions. The introduction of ClearPlans further expanded ClearGov's suite of public sector solutions. The comprehensive planning tool complements the existing Budget Cycle Management products, enabling organizations to effectively connect their budgets with long-term strategic plans and priorities.

"It's an incredibly exciting time to be at the forefront of the govtech ecosystem as local governments are increasingly transitioning to modern, cloud-based platforms. Being recognized for the eighth year by GovTech is not just an honor; it's a testament to our team's dedication to empowering government agencies with innovative tools that has driven industry-leading growth year after year," said Chris Bullock, CEO & founder of ClearGov.

"We're witnessing a remarkable surge in innovation across the entire GovTech sector driven by new startups, partnerships and strategic mergers. The industry's resilience and growth, even while other sectors slowed due to economic conditions, underscores the critical nature of technology's role in solving the most complex government challenges," said Dustin Haisler, Chief Innovation and Strategy Officer, Government Technology. "The 2024 GovTech 100 exemplifies this market energy, as we saw innovation from the back-office ERPs to the citizen-facing service requests systems. It's also important to remember, the GovTech 100 is a curation of a much larger market with hundreds of companies doing incredible work serving government agencies as their primary customer. We applaud all the companies that have chosen this market as their own."
