A New Chapter in Beverage Innovation
The launch of Vodka Zero, Tequila Zero, and Hibiscus Elixir represents a major leap in non-alcoholic beverage options.

Each drink is infused with live resin hemp, utilizing cutting-edge water-soluble technology for rapid and effective delivery. This technique ensures that the calming and relaxing benefits of hemp are experienced quickly and pleasantly. "Switching from alcohol has never been easier," says Brian Conaway, CEO of Powered By Plants. "We're here to ruin your relationship with alcohol by offering a healthier, more enjoyable alternative that aligns with a wellness-focused lifestyle."

Vodka Zero: A New Take on a Classic

Vodka Zero reimagines the traditional vodka experience with hemp twist. This non-alcoholic version offers the familiar taste of vodka without the unwanted side effects of alcohol, calories, or sugar.

Tequila Zero: Bold Flavor, Zero Alcohol

Tequila Zero captures the essence of classic tequila while being completely alcohol-free. Infused with hemp, it offers a unique, calming experience, perfect for tequila lovers who are mindful of their health.

Hibiscus Elixir: Floral, Refreshing, and Relaxing

The Hibiscus Elixir is a zero-calorie, zero-sugar beverage that blends the delicate taste of hibiscus with the relaxing properties of hemp. It's a perfect choice for anyone seeking a refreshing and calming drink.

Availability and Launch Events

Vodka Zero, Tequila Zero, and Hibiscus Elixir are available online and in selected partner locations across Texas in Dallas, Austin, Houston, and San Antonio. Powered By Plants will also be hosting a series of tasting events to celebrate their newest rollout, offering a firsthand experience of these refined and breakthrough beverages.
