'EYE AM MORE' represents the idea of balancing individualism and still being accepted in the Asian community. It disrupts the way Asian communities and encourages embracing 'Asian-ness' and Asian culture. 'EYE AM MORE' acknowledges the stereotypes of Asian women and expresses the importance of appreciating our cultural roots, no matter where you come from, as well as getting out of comfort zones to have the confidence and adapt to other multicultural communities that are not your own.

Historically, rap music has also been known to increase suicide rates, especially among adolescents. Tha0ie's mission is to create positive change in the entertainment industry, believing that the Asian community should immerse more into The Arts and to embrace the power of self-expression and creativity. Through 'EYE AM MORE' and her music, it can manifest to help people make better choices in life, so the medical community and the hip-hop world can embrace breaking down mental health and illness barriers even further. Ultimately, tha0ie breaks down stereotypes, shows inclusivity and focuses on mental strength, resilience and love.
