In the cacophony of voices surrounding us, will we heed the call of our political leaders, or will we choose to follow the teachings of Jesus?”

John Gayaldo

"Lose Trump, Find Jesus" delves deep into the entanglement of faith, politics, and money that has gripped Evangelical circles. Through a meticulous analysis of the Book of James, Gayaldo contends that the persona of Donald Trump mirrors the affluent figures mentioned in the ancient text, while numerous American churches unwittingly embody the congregations addressed by James. The book poses a crucial question: In the cacophony of voices surrounding us, will we heed the call of our political leaders, or will we choose to follow the teachings of Jesus?

Author John Gayaldo, recognized for his insightful commentary on the intersection of faith and contemporary issues, invites readers to embark on a journey of self-reflection and critical examination. Praise for "Lose Trump, Find Jesus" by JR Woodward:

"Amid ideologies that have taken many of God's people captive, John Gayaldo, in the way of William Stringfellow, combines the parable of his life and the wisdom of the book of James to rip through false and deceptive narratives to give us a clarion call to Lose Trump and Find Jesus. This prophetic call needs to be heeded if we hope to witness to the One who gave up his life so that we might give our lives to help others live. It's time for the body of Christ in this day to follow the faithful witnesses of Karl Barth and Dietrich Bonhoeffer in their day. If you wish to say "Yes" to Jesus, you must give an emphatic "No" to Trump. The integrity of our witness requires us to resist the Powers and stand in solitude with those whom the Powers seek to dehumanize."
