Fewer Slack interruptions. More work done. New free Slack app lets you send silent Slack messages and automatically categorizes them in a convenient inbox.

TORONTO, ON, CANADA, January 8, 2024 /EINPresswire.com/ -- In a world dominated by the constant flow of information and communication, the creators of Regarding are proud to introduce a solution that addresses the primary concern of Slack users – Distractions.

Slack, a popular team collaboration platform, has transformed the way teams communicate, but its persistent notifications often hinder productivity and create an overwhelming sense of chaos. Acknowledging this, Regarding has been developed to offer a respite from the constant interruptions, allowing users to regain control of their workdays.

I love Slack but the pop-ups are distracting when I'm heads-down or in a meeting. It's hard to monitor Slack channels, too. Regarding gets rid of the noise and makes my workday more productive”

Key Features of Regarding:

1. Silent Messages Without Notifications: With Regarding, users can send messages silently, eliminating disruptive pop-ups and notifications. This allows for a more focused and uninterrupted work environment.

categorizes messages into FYIs, Questions, and ToDos, presenting them in a convenient inbox within Slack. This streamlines communication and helps users prioritize tasks efficiently.
