As a fun twist, the destination and its properties will randomly reward individuals and groups that are found to be celebrating excessively with free prizes.

The 4-day bowl bash will feature 25 live performances and 150 hours of free entertainment on three stages headlined by American rock legends The Offspring on Saturday, Feb. 10 and country sensation Chris Lane on Friday, Feb. 9.

The entertainment doesn't stop there as Fremont Street Experience will feature roving, football themed, cirque-style entertainment and a live theatrical show from the Grid Iron Girls throughout the weekend.

“We are planning one of the biggest free events in our history to celebrate the Big Game’s debut in Las Vegas,” said Andrew Simon, President and CEO of Fremont Street Experience. “While most businesses would raise ticket prices this week, we decided to show the world why Fremont Street Experience is a fan favorite for entertainment with free concerts from legendary rock bands like The Offspring and country star Chris Lane.
