conference (#ADSC) will be held January 24-25 at the Hilton Los Angeles. The conference brings together the trifecta of the A&D industry – raw materials, manufacturing, and supply chain. The program will cover manufacturing innovation and operations using AI, training and manpower, merging markets, surging military demands, and more. The conference's overall theme is focused on resiliency, stability, and predictability within the industry.

The conference will examine well talked about current issues that are presented in an environment that will offer some solutions to the issues that are causing sleepless nights for decision makers.”

Carol Wilkins, Conference Producer, Aviation Week Network

The agenda will cover:

- State of the Industry's Global Supply Chain
- Geopolitical Concerns & the Impact of Conflict on the Supply Chain
- Commercial & Defense Key Market Trends and Forecasts
- Evaluating the Supply Chain Risks (Raw Materials)
- Risk Mitigation in Supply Chain and the Fix for Challenges Ahead
- Vulnerabilities in Global Supply Chain (Manufacturing)
- Factory Digital Twins
- A Case Study on Workforce Development
- Mergers & Acquisitions

- Global Forecast (Interiors)
