Dr. Kelishadi is a Board-Certified Plastic Surgeon who owns and operates his private practice in Newport Beach, CA. He is approved by the American Society for Aesthetic Plastic Surgery (ASAPS) as a Fellowship Director to train the next generation of clinical leaders. Dr. Kelishadi has delivered 26 lectures at conferences such as the American Society of Plastic Surgeons Meeting, The American Society for Aesthetic Plastic Surgery Meeting, Plastic Surgery Research Council, American Transplant Congress among others. Dr. Kelishadi has published 37 peer reviewed papers in journals such as the Aesthetic Surgery Journal, Journal of Clinical Investigation, Plastic and Reconstructive Surgery Journal, Aesthetic Surgery Journal Open Forum, ePlasty, Transplantation, Annals of Plastic Surgery, and other journals. Dr. Kelishadi has also presented 51 abstracts covering research topics across wound reconstruction and healing, transplant success and various surgical techniques.

Dr. Kelishadi received his undergraduate degree at Vanderbilt University in Nashville and his medical degree from University of Tennessee-Memphis College of Medicine followed by his general surgery residency at the University of Maryland and the prestigious Shock Trauma Center in Baltimore, MD. While at Baltimore, he also spent 2 years performing NIH funded research on groundbreaking mechanisms in immunobiology. Later, he completed his plastic surgery residency at the University of Louisville, KY.

Said Mr. Rajiv Shukla, Chairman & CEO of Carmell, "As a peer reviewer for The Aesthetic Surgery Journal, Dr. Kelishadi is deeply involved in studying the latest scientific developments in the aesthetics industry. His track record as an elite clinician combined with a stellar research background makes him a real asset to our SAB."

Said Dr. Kelishadi, "I have closely followed the application of regenerative science, as a clinician and a researcher, to help my patients achieve superior treatment outcomes. In my view, Carmell's Secretome platform represents the future of bio-aesthetics with its clinically validated technology. It is an honor to join forces with my fellow physicians who are the leaders of this movement to help build Carmell."

About Carmell

Carmell is a bio-aesthetics company that utilizes the human platelet secretome to topically deliver more than a thousand proteins and growth factors to support skin and hair health. Carmell's quality ethos is based on rational cosmetics design coupled with a focus on clean formulas that omit 14 commonly used chemicals that are proven to be adverse to human health. The Company is focused on developing topical cosmetics tailored to meet the demanding technical requirements of professional care providers.
