

B&H WORLDWIDE SIGNS THREE YEAR DEAL WITH ADVANTAGE FUTURE TECH IN THE USA

B&H Worldwide has signed a three-year exclusivity deal with Advantage Future Tech to manage its inventory and shipping services in the USA

WEST DRAYTON, MIDDLESEX, UNITED KINGDOM, January 22, 2024 /EINPresswire.com/ -- B&H Worldwide, a world leader in aerospace logistics, has signed a three-year exclusivity deal with Advantage Future Tech (AFT) to manage its inventory and shipping services in the USA. As a part of the agreement the two companies will also formally collaborate on joint marketing activities to enhance the reach and impact of their services.

Advantage Future Tech is a global exclusive distributor of OEM turbine engine parts, avionics, satellite connectivity and UAS and UAM product portfolios, covering all aftermarket segments.

Within the United States, B&H will be responsible for managing AFT's inventory within its Miami and Los Angeles facilities from where it will onward shipments throughout the country. B&H Worldwide's east and west coast facilities, which are AS9120B certified, will perform quality checks on inbound and outbound shipments. Utilising the bespoke FirstTRAC WMS and tracking systems, the teams will ensure exceptional standards are met for the customers. Operating around the clock, the entire operation aims to optimise AOG response times.

Says B&H Worldwide's Group CEO, Stuart Allen: "Advantage Future Tech is expanding its operations in the Americas and is set for considerable growth. By partnering with them we will be able to take advantage of the synergies which come from two specialist organisations in the field working in close cooperation and together deliver exceptional service to our customers".
