Unlike other platforms in the market, Aicite empowers users to receive inclusive news summaries, going beyond the limitations of character constraints. It capitalizes on the latest advancements in Gen AI and does not filter out or pre-selects news sources to summarize. This gives the users the power to view and select what they wish to read as their 'personalized' news feed. Aicite users can enjoy in-depth insights into the latest happenings in the business world, thanks to an ecosystem of Aicite's innovative use of Gen AI along with data algorithms.

Inderjit Makkar, founder of Factacy, who gained recognition on Shark Tank India Season 1 for an IoT startup Proxgy, expressed his excitement about the launch, stating, "Aicite represents a fresh take on business news summaries. We believe in empowering our users with the most relevant and insightful information, and Aicite is a step in that commitment. This intelligence platform will prove to be an unfair advantage to our users, who want to stay informed about the ever-evolving business landscape."

Aicite revolutionizes business news consumption with its personalized watchlists, enabling users to tailor real-time access to comprehensive summaries on selected topics or keywords. Remaining free for users, Aicite is also set to enhance accessibility with upcoming iOS and Android applications, establishing its status as a powerful entrant in AI-powered business news platforms.

"Aicite is also looking forward to empowering enterprises with its custom APIs, seamlessly integrating into clients' platforms. This approach positions Aicite as a preferred solution for businesses aiming to build up on their market intelligence capabilities." – adds Inderjit Makkar.
