

Jovie Nannies+Sitters looks to Aaniie to Create a Next-Generation Home Childcare Delivery Platform

Jovie, the nation's largest childcare provider, chooses Aaniie technology to power their Childcare Reimagined mission to help families thrive.

EAU CLAIRE, WI, UNITED STATES,
January 25, 2024 /EINPresswire.com/ --

Aaniie, formerly Smartcare Software, provider of the leading Electronic Medical Record (EMR) and Electronic Resource Planning (ERP) platform for care in the home, is honored to announce the rollout of Jovie Nannies+Sitters' childcare platform powered by Aaniie's innovative care cloud.

The core foundational solutions that Aaniie enables allow providers and caregivers to be laser-focused on care – whether for children or seniors.”

Scott Zielski, Aaniie CEO

Several years ago, Jovie embarked on a journey to find an innovative technology solution to meet their future vision of childcare, as well as to support their growing franchise network. After conducting a rigorous review of existing childcare software platforms, Jovie discovered no existing on-market childcare solution met their needs. Expanding their search, they began to look toward adjacent home care market solutions. Specifically, they searched for care companies with a reputation for innovation and collaboration.

That's when they contacted Aaniie, which has gained a reputation for a solid technical foundation, innovation mindset, and customer partnering approach that lends itself to diverse care applications and expansions.

Deeply collaborating with Jovie's childcare team, Aaniie expanded its leading home care platform to support workflows specific to delivering childcare in homes, businesses, and events. Jovie's new platform includes all of Aaniie's award-winning advanced workflows, powerful communication tools, and caregiver retention solutions; plus, it offers unique interoperability with a national childcare backup-care network — including innovative technologies like instant-care bookings and advanced territory management.

"Collaborating with Aaniie will prove to be a game-changer for Jovie. The seamless integration has unlocked unparalleled potential in our respective markets. This partnership exemplifies innovation, efficiency, and customer-centricity, marking a pivotal moment in our commitment to building stronger families," expressed Stuart Dupuy, President of Jovie.

"The needs of providers delivering care into the home are universal; childcare providers have many of the same needs and challenges as senior care providers," says Scott Zielski, CEO of Aaniie. "The care workflow triangle between the provider, family, and caregiver is critically important for a successful care outcome and subsequent client satisfaction. The core foundational solutions that Aaniie enables allow providers and caregivers to be laser-focused on care – whether for children or seniors. We realized that applying our technology to overlapping home care areas like childcare is helping us advance the platform technologically and contributing benefits for all users across our broader care platform."

Aaniie is proud to power Jovie's vision for the future of family care. Together, we are working to make families stronger across the care continuum with mobile care solutions for everyone, everywhere.
