

Modigent CEO, Dan Bueschel, Shares Reflections on Fourth Quarter, Looks Ahead at 2024 in New Video Update Series

PHOENIX, AZ, USA, January 25, 2024 /EINPresswire.com/ -- Modigent, LLC, a pioneer in infrastructure, technology and energy solutions, released its quarterly update that recapped the fourth quarter, which ended December 31, 2023, and highlighted key initiatives for 2024.

This new, quarterly video series, hosted by award-winning journalist Carey Peña, is aimed at sharing Modigent's achievements and newest plans. Chief Executive Officer, Dan Bueschel, states the company has organically grown 17% in 2023, with an additional 50% in growth through acquisitions since the beginning of the year. The sales pipeline has seen an increase of about 25% and sales in 2023 were up approximately $130 million over 2022 – giving Modigent a backlog of approximately $250 million as it heads into 2024.

The recent acquisition of Georgia-based Tebarco Mechanical Corporation has increased Modigent's portfolio to more than $500 million, highlighting the company's impressive growth path.

Looking forward to 2024, Bueschel shared that the company will continue its focus on culture and safety through significant investments in the training structures for executives and management, and the position academy training for front line employees. In line with the increased focus on training and education, Modigent is expanding its apprenticeship program on the national level.

"Culture means the most to me, it is the most important thing I think about in my job. When I'm asked 'What does a CEO do, what do you do at your organization?', I think about the people and the culture first," said Bueschel during the interview with Carey Peña. "What we're really trying to

What we're really trying to do is make our company a place where everybody who works there says this is the best job that I've ever had."
