Adrienne Fekete, Founder of The I Am Unbreakable™ Global Media brand, has been accepted into Rolling Stone Culture Council, a vetted community of leaders on the cutting edge of what's new in culture.

Unbreakable™ Global Media stands united in its commitment to empowering and amplifying voices that create a positive impact worldwide,” says Fekete.

Rolling Stone Culture Council contributors are a curated network of senior executives and influential leaders selected for their accomplishments in many areas, such as media, television, film, music, and entertainment.

They are the voices of outstanding thought leaders, change-makers and disruptors who are passionate about leadership, equality, mentorship, and social influence.

“You can't always get what you want. Or can you?” laughs Fekete. “Working with some of the most iconic musicians in the world has taught me so much. Music has always been a roadmap to the lives we've lived, the places we have been, and the people who we have danced through this journey with.”

“As a young child, it was the catchy Sesame Street tunes; getting a little older, I loved the Bay City Rollers, The Beach Boys and Pat Benatar. Into my early teens, my love of rock and roll began with greats like Van Halen, Phil Collins, Journey, and Rush, to name a few. We often get to look back when we hear a tune that we perhaps had our first kiss, the first slow dance, our first heartbreak, the first dance at our wedding, or a loved one who has passed: Bing Crosby's White Christmas was my father's favourite,” says Fekete.

I am humbled to have been invited to be a part of Rolling Stone Culture Council. To stand beside such incredible humans and an amazing community is truly an honour.”

“The culture of music is a window to our souls. Embrace it, remember it, and love it. So, it seems perfectly fitting that I landed here with Rolling Stone Culture Council, especially after working with Mic and the boys,” she says.

“The collaboration with Rolling Stone Culture Council is another avenue within a rockstar community to share their authentic and unfiltered journeys to personal and professional success. The uniqueness of this partnership jives perfectly with my passion for music and culture.

The I Am Unbreakable™ movement is revolutionizing how voices are celebrated and heard worldwide.
