

Inga Ellzey Billing Companies Unveils Dermatology Practices Guide for 2024 Coding Update

The guide provides a concise overview of significant changes impacting dermatology services.

CASSELBERRY, FL, USA, January 30, 2024 /EINPresswire.com/ -- Inga Ellzey Billing Companies, the top-rated dermatology billing revenue cycle management company since 1996, is delighted to release a new article to assist dermatology practices in navigating important coding changes for 2024.

“The 2024 Current Procedural Terminology (CPT) includes 394 updates, encompassing 225 additions, 75 deletions, and 93 revisions,” Inga Ellzey notes. “While dermatology saw minimal alterations, it's critical that practitioners remain up-to-date to ensure accurate billing.”

- Direct Supervision Extension

- Conversion Factor and Billing Change
- Pathology Update
- Time-Based Billing Alignment
- Introduction of G2211

With the continuous evolution of medical coding standards from CMS and the AMA, it's paramount that healthcare providers stay abreast of annual updates. Dermatology practices, in particular, hinge upon correct coding for proper insurance reimbursement.

"Dermatology practices are at a critical juncture where staying current with the latest coding changes is not just beneficial – it's imperative," Inga warns. "Keep an eye out for added clarification on selecting the right codes to maintain accuracy in billing during the initial claim submission, all while steering clear of potential denials."
